

Epiblast

The image shows a horizontal, elongated cluster of numerous small, semi-transparent circular dots. The dots are colored in a gradient from light yellow-green on the left to bright orange-red on the right. The overall shape is irregular, resembling a biological specimen or a data visualization. The left side is more diffuse and lighter in color, while the right side is more densely packed and darker.

NE